Prison Board Men Reply to Attack of Jurist

Declare Criticism Unable to Change Policy

Paroling to Continue, Says President of Body

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—Members of the State Board of Prison Directors do not take seriously the attack made by Superior Judge Burnell of Los Angeles, on the board because of paroled犯人. Judge Burnell is quoted as declaring that his reluctance to send men to State prisons because the "politicians on the Prison Board will only turn them loose."

President M. H. was here today attending a hearing of the State Board of Control, declared:

"I have never heard of Judge Burnell, but his criticism will not cause the board to change its policy of paroling犯人 when the case merit such action."

Gilbert E. Daniels of Sacramento, the newest member of the board, said:

"We have been on the Prison Board only a short time, study of the records convinces me that Judge Burnell either doesn't know what he is talking about or else he is reckless with the truth."

The new president, a member of the board, said he refused to take cognizance of Judge Burnell's remarks.

BURNELL UPHOLDS STAND OF GOVERNOR

The parliamentary language used by Mr. Daniels is sufficiently illustrative of the type of politician on the Parole Board," said Judge Burnell yesterday.

In what he has about the parole of prisoners I have meant no criticism of Gov. Richardson to be implied. The Governor is virtually hostage by the appointments of previous Governors, as members of the Parole Board can only be moved before their ten-year terms are up.

It is evident the Governor is doing his best, and it is certainly a shame that he is a political pawn and bring back these men upholding the work of the Parole Board after it has turned the criminal loose. It is work the Governor should not have to undertake."

Rescue Workers at Mine in Oklahoma Speed Task

White Man Reaches Top Alive and Negro Saved

Staff of Undertakers Kept Busy at Wilburton

(By A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

FAIRMONT (W. Va.) Jan. 14.—Thirty-eight men have been entombed in the No. 8 mine of the Jamieson Coal and Coke Company by an explosion which occurred shortly before midnight.

Rescue workers from all over this region have been called to Farmington, where the mine is located. A rescue crew penetrated the workings of the mine for 2,000 feet from the foot of the hoist shaft, but was forced to turn back by dense clouds of smoke. Fear is expressed by company officials that all caught in the mine had perished.

Should the tax bill be brought to the fore and the court discuss this as legal in second place than the mine will be closed.

The political situation can be settled by these acts.

WILLBURTON (Okla.) Jan. 14.—Rescue work at the wrecked mine of the Degnan-McConnell Company, near here, tonight had been resolved into the dreary task of removing the bodies of the victims.

The bodies of thirty-four men, most of them negroes, had been taken early tonight from the mine, which was damaged by a gas explosion yesterday.

Hoppe went up early in the day when Cecil McKinney, a young white miner, emerged from the explosion. He walked with National Guardsmen and friends to the mine bathhouse, where he was treated by a physician and later seen home.

McKinney said he had crawled constantly on his hands and knees after the explosion and that he finally made his way to the turn in the passageway, where he was found by rescue workers.

CANADIANS WILL QUIT UNION BODY

Winnipeg Area Telegraphers Decide to Secede

Railway Men Separate From American Federation

Commercial Operators May Do Likewise

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
WINNIPEG (Man.) Jan. 14.—Decision of the Winnipeg district, Canadian National Railway Operators, to secede from the Commercial Telegraphers' Union marks another step in the gradual separation of Canadian unionists from the parents of the American Federation of Labor.

The break in the ranks of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union in Winnipeg is expected, in time, to spread all over the Canadian National system and possibly to the Canadian Pacific lines as well. All telegraph wires, railway and commercial are under the control of the two transcontinental railway systems. If the general secession spread to that extent, a station-pure Canadian union will arise.

Secession was fomented in Winnipeg by the action of Roscoe Johnson of Chicago, International president of the union, who, as an official of the union before a trial board to defend themselves against charges that they were preaching secession and disseminating socialist propaganda.

The trial board met in Toronto, the Canadian headquarters of the union. One of the accused men, a resident of Toronto, refused to defend himself before the trial board on the ground that the three trial-board members were prejudiced against him. The other accused official, who lived in Winnipeg, said it was impossible to get a trial board to sit and asked for a change of venue to Winnipeg. This was denied, and in the absence of the two accused the charges were read, they were adjudged guilty and expelled from the union.

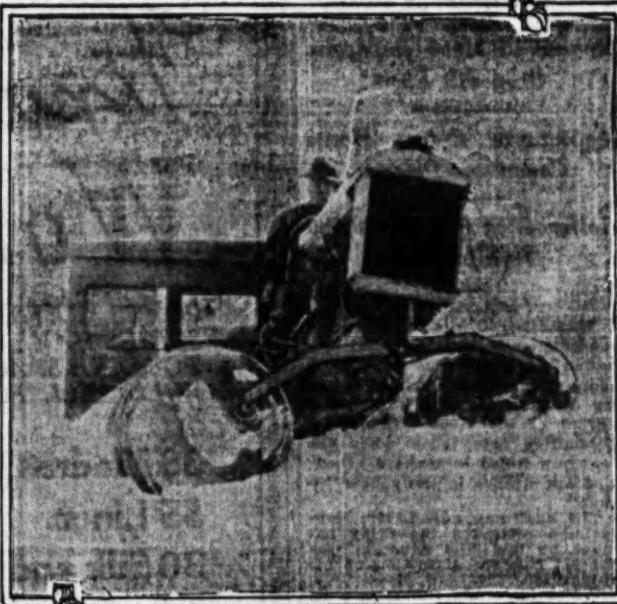

The action of the Winnipeg telegraphers marks the second attempt to set up a purely Canadian union, the first attempt having been made with the running trains of the Canadian National Railways, and today is functioning in a satisfactory manner. The Canadian union has disposed of the old bugaboo.

The Canadian operators were paying dues into an American propaganda and getting little or no benefit from it."

This motor, which hauls a long column of heavily laden sledges, consists of a tractor engine and chassis, fitted with two steel drums. The drums are surfaced with spiral ridges, like threads on a giant bolt. When rotated by the motor, the threaded drums worm their way through the snow. Two of these snow motors will be taken to Alaska on the Detroit Arctic expedition, and will haul the necessary gasoline and supplies 1000 miles overland to Point Barrow in thirty-five days.

ARCTIC LAND TO BE SOUGHT

Capt. Wilkins' Expedition Hopes to End Controversy Over Supposed Polar Continent

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Most of the recent Arctic maps show that although land may exist in the unexplored wastes which Capt. George H. Wilkins, the commander of the Detroit Arctic expedition, is planning to explore by airplane, its existence there has not been proved. And yet within a decade supposedly authentic maps have been published which gave the names, positions and assumed outlines of distinct land masses, all of them within the unexplored area.

One of these map-lands was Crocker Land, which Robert E. Peary thought he saw in 1906. Another was Keenan's Land, a mythical island, which was formerly thought to lie off the Alaskan coast.

Capt. Wilkins succeeds in flying straight up the one hundred and fifty-sixth meridian of west longitude and south of the mathematical pole toward Spitsbergen—as he says he will, if he does not sight land—he will not fly near the southern boundaries of most of the map-lands. Even though all of them may exist, he will not sight them from the side from which their "discoverers" saw them.

MAY SETTLE IT

But if he is driven off his course to the south, or if he makes supplemental flights to the south of the proposed route, he will over the geographical points with which each of these lands was once supposed to lie. If he does, he will settle many moot questions regarding what he finds. He may put Keenan's Land and Crocker Land on all the maps again. He may put them off the maps permanently.

George Storckson, who carried on Siemers' work after the commander of the Canadian Arctic expedition became ill with typhoid fever, made a sledge trip to the supposed position of Keenan's Land and came back to report it a myth. He said:

"We have definitely proved that Keenan's Land does not exist. The drift of our ice floe was right through the territory where Keenan's Land was located, and published in 1915 by the American Geographical Society, and instead of finding land we found a depth of 400 fathoms without reaching bottom."

After Storckson's return, Keenan's Land was stricken from the American Geographical Society's maps.

Now, while trying to reach the mathematical pole in 1906, the men he saw land between the eighty-third and eighty-fourth parallels of north latitude and between the one hundred and one hundred and tenth meridians of west longitude. He observed it with his glasses while standing on Cape Thomas Hubbard at the western extremity of Keenan's Land.

For a time this Crocker plan was a fixture on the maps. But when Macmillan returned from the Crocker Land expedition he reported that he had journeyed far out into the ice toward Keenan's land without sighting any land. But he, too, has said, saw what looked like land while he was at Cape Thomas Hubbard. Consequently many geographers came to believe that Crocker Land was and is a mirage.

ADVANTAGE OF ALTITUDE

Most of the living explorers agree that it is exceedingly difficult to see land from the surface of the polar ice. Capt. Wilkins, traveling in plane, will, however, of course, have the advantage of a great range of visibility. He feels certain himself, he says, that if land exists along his proposed route, it will often be visible above the blown free of snow and will be relatively easy to see from the air.

The difficulty of sighting land from low observation points was not appreciated fully by the discoverer of Nicholas II Land by the Vilkitsky expedition in 1912. Nicholas II Land lies off Cape Chelyuskin on the Siberian Coast and with the submerged island, Tscherskiy Island, is only 100 miles from land. Whalers had been passing around the cape for years and had seen no land to the north.

The Russian expedition met an ice pack at the cape and steamed northward looking for a channel. The men did not see land until they were within seven miles of it.

If Capt. Wilkins sights new land it is believed that land may eventually become a stepping place and fueling base for airplanes engaged in commerce on the short transpolar routes. But if he finds no land, he may still land lightly to the world's store of geographical knowledge.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

PHOENIX, Jan. 14.—Suggestion of co-operative action by the nation's farmers and cattle-growers was made today by Robert H. Carey of Wyoming in a keynote speech before the American National Live Stock Association. Mr. Carey based his conclusions upon experience as a member of President Coolidge's agricultural conference.

Much of the great loss that lately has been suffered by cattlemen is laid to lack of proper protection from the part of banks and declared that discount agencies will have to be assembled or government loans provided to pass through price depression periods that are inevitable in the industry.

He declared that the commerce commissions had become more courts and are not the business boards that originally were created. They have become, he said, antagonists to agriculture.

Suggestion was made by the speaker of the organization of an export corporation to handle meat shipped to foreign countries, this corporation to be protected against competition by individuals.

According to Sam H. Cowan, attorney for the Farmers' Protective Association, "putting it over on the cattlemen" and are pocketing the big end of the transactions, some comfort may be found in the maintenance of cattle shipping rates on the railroads at former figures.

Other speakers listed were D. S. Cawsey of Manhattan, Kan., who told of association plans for Cawsey's presentation; J. E. Christensen of Washington, who pledged departmental assistance in the "truth in meat" campaign; and John Hasleton of Kansas City, who urged better breeding on the range.

Sammy Mandell Faces Teddy O'Hara in Ten-Round Hollywood Main Event Tonight

EASTERER IS PICKED TO WIN

Portuguese Boxer's Hope to Land Hard Left

Rockford Man is Near Top of Lightweight Ranks

Strong Tangles With Webster in Six-Rounder

Fight fans of this city have an opportunity of seeing at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight Sammy Mandell in action. He fight Ted O'Hara (Drack) or Oakland in Tom Galler's main event.

Mandell may be the lightweight champion of the world if he is ever fortunate enough to get the present champion in the ring with him. Rocky Kansas may be rough to some gents in the fight racket but he is thought to be made to order for Sammy Mandell.

The time isn't ripe yet for the big lightweight shot in New York that will put Sammy on the top of the heap. Kansas has only had a little while few weeks and he isn't ready to take any chances of losing it against a young and ambitious fighter like Sammy.

FIRST SHOT

Until the time is set by Tex Rickard for Mandell's next shot in New York, Sammy will be seen in action in California. His first start is tonight and before he heads east, May 1st, he'll scalp of Ted O'Hara, Ace Hudkins, Tommy O'Brien and Musky Calahan.

Teddy O'Hara gets the first crack at Mandell. He was the underdog but he was Rockford the night he took the title from Jimmy Goodrich. What makes O'Hara dangerous is the fact that he is a puncher. Whenever a sock-in-the-face bout there is always a chance of the old wall going home to rest.

Bob Fitzsimmons needed only one crack at Jim Corbett and the time.

FANS TO HONOR BEAR LEADER

Andy Smith, departed coach of the University of California, will be honored at the Coliseum during the Tiger-Bear football game Saturday when players and spectators observe a full minute's silence between halves. The ceremonies will be led by Paul Rader, head of Angelus Temple and chaplain of the Los Angeles Tigers.

Along about the same time that Grange was tearing up the sod around Winton with a team that didn't rank, Eddie Britton, a coach who has managed the Omaha club during the past two seasons, to act as first speaker and soon for the Indians to speak. Eddie is a former Burch, Omaha owner, without a pilot. He says that he has yet to decide on whom he will get to manage his club.

The Sacramento and Oakland clubs are expected to be in attendance to strengthen their clubs of the coasters. Del Howard added a slugging outfielder to the Oaks roster when he purchased Eddie Britton, a right-handed and fifty-baseball magnates will attend in a body. They are the visiting delegates attending the baseball convention at Catalina.

There is an outside chance of Red Grange being present now that his manager, C. G. Fyle, has given up the ten rounds of personal practice game, even with the Flaming Fantom in harness.

Britton, for instance, would not have much attention to pay to his drifting friend. Eddie Ball from Wheaton about the terrible tornado tearing up DuPage county's cow pastures. Wheaton was just in junction point for a rail road and state highway. In the rear that followed, Britton had a great share in building up the reputation which Grange now enjoys, chiefly because of his superb interference.

Another coincidence in the almost parallel grid history of the quartet is that the territory from which they came, always had a school in at the finish, battling for the State prep championship and frequently contending for national interscholastic honor for high school elevens. Britton wound up his high school career as captain, fullback and halfback for the Bears that fought Ansonia, (C.I.) High for country-wide recognition. Hanny was end and an outstanding star of the State championship. Eddie Britton, a senior at Aurora eleven in 1915 that lost a national prep championship to Hamilton Institute of New York at the Polo Grounds by a single point, was captain at Rockford, boasted a school that divided prep honors for years on end with another school in the same circuit.

When the Bears played the Pittsburghers in 1915, a year ago, it may have been merely a coincidence, but Grange went out of the game with a bad arm after he had been tackled by "Andy" Gustafson. Prior to only a few years prior, Gustafson had been starting fullback for West High of Aurora while Grange was gaining attention at Wheaton.

Call it coincidence or what have you but a kinship in football togs has linked the destinies of the Four Horsemen of the Illinois Prairie almost since they started to school and they are back for action at the Coliseum tomorrow, along with the rest of the battling Bears.

NEW PRO GRID RULE

It has been proposed that the National League of Professional Football Clubs adopt a rule preventing any team in the circuit from using a college player until eight months after he has played his last college game.

CHEATING CHEATERS

Chapter 48

There have been many stories and rumors of signal stealing; you hear them often, but seldom is the method revealed. I have mentioned the leading instances.

There are two ways of getting the other team's signals—the legitimate and the other illegitimate. I have mentioned the legitimate systems that were discovered. The legitimate systems are always shop observation and intelligent study.

One of the most peculiar incidents of signal grabbing occurred a few years ago in Philadelphia in a game between the visiting Tigers and the Athletics. For five innings there was the most remarkable demonstration of hitting recorded that year. But the hitting was not confined to one team; both Detroit and Philadelphia were doing it. I forgot how many hits were made but I know that nine home runs were included and that is a record.

Each manager started off with his best pitcher and neither lasted an inning. Good pitchers followed but the slugging continued. Each team had its signals but neither could guess how the other team was getting them. Each team changed signs. After the fifth inning the pitchers began issuing the signals and then the catchers. Alternating did not stop the slamming. In the sixth inning each team decided to quit using the other team's signals for fear of being detected. Too much was being made of a good thing.

DISCOVER SYSTEM

While the batting was going on, the players of each team were watching one another to discover what was giving away the game away.

Each made the discovery. Eddie Collins was also a shortstop at that time. They would stand behind the catcher and look through his legs. Then they would say something to the batsman, an innocent remark that was the signal for the pitched ball.

Dan Bancroft was one of the best men ever to play the game when he ran bases. When he ran bases he would begin tipping off the battery with his fingers in his glove, first signal for the curve and when he circled the middle finger the elbow moved man at this trick.

FAIR STEALING

The old Athletes had several men that were marvels at catching signals. Chief Bender, Danny Murphy and Jack Coombs were famous for it and they did it legitimately. Eddie Collins was also a shortstop at that time. They would generally stand behind the catcher and look through his legs. Then they would say something to the batsman, an innocent remark that was the signal for the pitched ball.

TEAR DOWN TABERNACLE

Adventists Decide to Call Off Meetings

Glendale Citizens in Protest Against Building

Structure Involved Expenditure of $5000

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE
GLENDALE, Jan. 14.—As the result of protests that were voiced against the maintenance of a frame tabernacle that had been erected on North Brand Boulevard by the Seventh Day Adventists in which to hold a series of revival meetings and lectures, the leaders of the City Council, this morning, voted to tear down the structure, which has been built at a cost of $5000, on the 18th inst.

The tabernacle, it was asserted, did not conform to the provisions of the city's zoning laws and constituted a fire risk, besides being unsightly and a detriment to adjoining property. A vigorous campaign was waged by those opposed to the tabernacle, the citizens of Glendale, the City Council, the Tabernacle to prevent the City Council granting an extension of the usual ten-day permit for holding meetings in a building of this character.

It was stated that all the owners of property adjoining the site of the tabernacle had signed a petition before it was started, signifying their approval of its erection and endorsing the plans of the Adventists. The Adventists are holding the services that were to be carried on for a period of six days under the leadership of Evangelist J. W. McComas, in view of the opposition to the tabernacle by the other members of the Seventh Day Adventists today addressed a communication to the city officials announcing their intention to demolish the tabernacle beginning next Monday.

For this the tabernacle might be the scene of a confrontation, were expressed by many, although it was shown that every precaution had been taken to prevent such a meeting. It was also declared a large number of tents on every side of the building, and it was also declared that the builders had adhered strictly to the provisions of the city's building code under the special temporary permit that was granted them for its construction.

COMMERCE SECRETARY REPORTED AS MISSING

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 14.—Mrs. George Neil, wife of the secretary of the Edison Club of Commerce, today appealed to local police in an effort to find her husband who suddenly disappeared Tuesday, the 5th inst.

An examination of the effects of the missing man, City Manager A. F. Porter, revealed the fact that Neil disappeared in a suit of old clothes, as his better apparel is still in his house, while his auto is in the garage. Mrs. Neil, who is employed in a confectionery at Hollywood first became alarmed two days ago when she desired her husband to be present at a minor operation on one of his teeth. It is not known whether financial worries have anything to do with his absence. One theory is that he might be at Sophie Springs in Ventura county, with Glen Wallace, prominent real estate dealer, who went there to recuperate several weeks ago.

CURIOSITY DEATH TO LIONS

Beast Brings Mate Back to Trap from Which She Made Escape and Both Animals Fall Victims to Trapper's Gun

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 14.—Two mountain lions, a lioness that was twice caught in the same trap and her mate, have been slain in Cajon Pass within a week, relieving the fears of ranchers whose cattle were preyed upon by the lions in frequent attacks.

L. E. Dickerman, a telegraph operator at Summit Station, killed the lioness and yesterday John Hawkins, a rancher, shot her mate when he came across the lion on the hills.

Dickerman, an amateur trapper, set a trap in Little Horse Thief Canyon three weeks ago. The next day he returned to the trap, there to find the claws of a lion caught in the snare. The lion had literally torn off his claws in an attempt to escape. He baited the trap and made daily trips to it. Last week he approached the trap and saw the lion return to his cabin for a rifle. As he again approached, the lion, sensing a new fear, backed Hawkins, a disabled ex-service man, read Dickerman's experience, yesterday started on a hunt for the lion. As he crawled up a steep hill overlooking Cleg-horn Canyon, two miles to the west of Little Horse Thief Canyon, he came across the mate. The lion, contrary to the traits of his kind, stood in a clearing in the brush and, showing its teeth, leaped at him, claws out.

Hawkins shot quickly, the bullet hitting the lion in the neck. The lion, though mortally wounded, kicked and squirmed in the brush. Hawkins waited until the time killing the animal, since it was dark.

The two lions had killed a number of calves and smaller animals in the Cajon Pass district in recent years. Ranchers finding only the carcasses of their animals and footprints of the lions, the latter weighed approximately 140 pounds and his mate 110 pounds.

Valley Traffic is Unbottled by Bridge Opening

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

CAHUENGA PARK, Jan. 14.—Engineers here today announced the opening of the South Sherman Way bridge, between here and Van Nuys over the Los Angeles River. The bridge is only partially completed, but is now in such a shape that traffic may be expected to pass over it within a few weeks. It will be several weeks before all concrete work is finished, the approaches placed and several large spans ornamentally lighted. The bridge has been going on this bridge for the last four months. Since that time direct travel out of the San Fernando Valley into the Ventura Boulevard section has been virtually cut off, motorists having to take long detours to go in a southerly direction from the valley. When completed the huge concrete structure will be one of the largest and hand-somest in the San Fernando Valley.

Work on the bridge, recently begun on the north side of Saugus Avenue, was halted because contractors could not raise the bridge over the river on this street. Had they done so, another traffic would virtually have been averted as the bridge being constructed over the river on Woodman avenue, near the McKinley Industrial Home for Boys, also in an incomplete state.

O. D. houses during the year.

A new board of directors was elected as follows: H. A. Wasmann, president; G. W. Rockefeller, vice-president; J. L. Bascom, secretary-treasurer; Hoxie and Alex Brownridge.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

ONTARIO, Jan. 14.—Andrew Masola, 22 years of age, who came into the limelight last June when a motor car in which he was a passenger, drove to a poolroom near the Santa Fe tracks. Mr. McKay sat in the rear seat of the automobile while one of the operatives of the gang, who was driving, got out of the car and was shot.

The car was driven to the County Jail, where the prisoner was identified as Andrew Masola, a bartender at the Ontario police force.

When Masola was released he returned to the poolroom and repeated exactly the same trick on Ramon Reynoso. The liquor was still containing considerable amounts of alcohol. The men are charged with sale and possession of intoxicants.

Anaheim Citrus Growers Have Fine Season

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

ANAHEIM, Jan. 14.—Citrus growers in this vicinity marketing their crops through the Anaheim Association will receive record checks averaging $25,500, or an average of about 33 cents per packed box on fruit shipped during the season.

The association, the annual meeting of which was held at the home of G. W. Sandlands, manager of the Sandlands' report showed that receipts for the crop shipped during the season amounted to $12,750.

The association will ship 650 cars of fruit shipped during the season.

Another youth, giving his name as Al Minzi and his age as 18 years, who is believed to have operated the mill for Masola, will probably face a similar charge.

Masola's establishment is set up on the rear of a lot, the front portion of which is occupied by a dwelling owned and maintained by Andrew W. Wright, 48 years of age.

Wright was also arrested and is expected to be held as a material witness. He is said to have sold whisky to the police operative.

According to the police, the police officer, who is under investigation, was a member of the gang.

Another youth, who is believed to have operated the mill for Masola, will probably face a similar charge.

This selection is considered a high point in a comparatively new man in this district, having been here only three years. Cashier Discusses Survey of Conditions

Gain in Deposits Shows General Trend

EXECUTIVE RESEARCH

ORANGE, Jan. 14.—With financial conditions showing a steady upward trend and with crop prospects appearing exceedingly bright for 1926, the outlook for 1926 is more than in the past year.

In revealing findings of a recent survey, Walter Kogler, cashier of the First National Bank, said that general conditions in the district are gradually returning to normal, established three years ago with increased crops.

All indications point to a positive year.

In this connection, he pointed out that deposits in the bank base this year were considerably heavier than last year while the annual meeting of the bank in November exceeded any month in more than a year, indicating that commercial deposits are low at the present time.

Speaking of business conditions, Mr. Kogler said: "The surveys among the patrons reveal that the people are gradually paying off debts and making sound investments while the general financial status shows steady improvement."

Speaking from the annual report which was presented to the members of the two affiliated banks, Mr. Kogler said: "The total deposits of the two affiliated banks total $285,087.57 with combined assets amounting to $300,814.50."

The annual election of the board of directors will be held on January 22nd.

Both institutions are now in the process of re-electing their officers.

Mr. Kogler said: "The election of all the 1926 officers of both institutions are as follows: National Bank: N. T. Edwards, president; D. F. Campbell, vice-president; D. F. Kogler, cashier; W. F. Kogler, cashier; W. D. Granger, chairman of the board of directors; M. Elmer, manager of the Union branch; H. J. Ladd, manager of the Orange branch; W. W. Friends of the injured man gathered at a store and implement service station in Randburg and service station in Bakersfield to help repair work done at the railroad crossing where the accident occurred.

Woods became confused, drove his machine into the ditch on the side of the track.

Two men who have not been identified were with Mr. Woods, one suffering a broken hand and the other severely injured, without injury.

Mr. Blatt was appointed to the executive board of the Long Beach branch.

MARKET EXPERT EXPLAINS SHIFT

Own Theory on Investments Apparently Reversed

Says Common Stock Holdings Sharply Reduced

Bulk of Company Funds Now on Call or Cash

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT
(Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.)
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—It is one thing to spin theories on how to swell an original investment to nice proportions and another to accomplish the feat. Of few books on investment management, one heard in Wall street was one by Edgar Lawrence Smith, author, in which are set forth research materials that very recently exploded some old notions in the investment world. In "Common Stocks—Long Term Investments," he showed that common shares in the past, if held for a long period, had done more for investors than bonds.

All of which is the more interesting in the light of what experts like Mr. Smith himself have in the last year in a job at which he has had an opportunity to test out some of his own theories. As president of the Investment Management Company, one of the most unique investment trust organizations, Mr. Smith and his directors must determine what to do with the funds that now lie in their hands. They have, over so long a period, in the opinion of this authority, more reward than bonds. It should not be concluded that Mr. Smith's views are unique. The other day, that wise investors will ignore market conditions in choosing the time to buy stocks. What he says is that stocks might be more attractive of certain conditions have a better record than bonds. But the advantages can be multiplied by shrewdness in following the most favorable opportunities. That point brought out in a chapter of the book that the commentators had not generally applied to present market conditions.

The management of a sizable investment fund, the Investment Managers Company has concerned itself primarily with common stock investments, but the proportions of its entire fund employed in this manner and on call on call have not remained the same.

When asked to give the exact percentage of the fund that now is invested in common shares Mr. Smith said that at the close of business on the 9th inst., for example, only about 32 per cent of

MARKET FLASHES

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Stocks steady; public utility shares lead advance; International Metal, Standard and French Industrial firms. Market and French Foreign exchange higher; starting stocks lower; foreign buying strong; foreign easier; increased buying of stocks. Coffee high; higher Brazilian market.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Wheat down; grain lower; and weather.

Hop; corn; selling demand moderate.

The aggregate amount represented an investment in stocks is the figure is interesting. It means that the greater part of the fund at the moment is in the form of call loans and cash. It means that which might have been drawn somewhat less than a year ago, on May 31, 1925, when the company had nearly 84 per cent of its funds in common stocks and only 6 per cent in bonds.

Investors who read between the lines should not interpret these rather surprising figures as a sure sign that the market in stocks is over for the present. This may not be. In what is revealed of the scientific care exercised by some houses in Wall street to prevent unwise speculation, it is clear that we feel inclined to buy more and more stocks as prices go higher.

Bullish Domestic and Foreign News Imparts Firm Tone to Market

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The market is firm today, and prices held up well as a result of the news was bullish and checked the local liquidation or fresh speculative selling by the bear element. Advances were made again higher than due, and the Commodity Bureau's report on American mill consumption for the month of December was much larger than any estimates current in the extreme markets.

The total was $75,771 bales without linters against $63,098 for the month of November, year before. This brings the total American mill consumption from August last to date up to $2,594,000 bales against 2,359,000 the same time last year. It shows that the milling conditions in New England, well off the American States have been much better than advances from either side taken from reports from the Signal Hill field.

Mr. Robertson had wide experience in the pipeline business, and was a former manager of the Union Oil Company, both in California fields and in South America.

Wildcat Starts Up

The Artesia Oil Company, which has been inactive for almost a year, is resuming operations in its wildcat well in the Artesia district according to field reports. The well, known as the Henderson No. 1, is standing cemented. The showings were found at different depths in the well. It was said, the best showings being found at about 6,000 feet, for the time being, the center of attention, as a result of good cores taken out of the hole, but in spite of this, repeated production tests were not successful.

Finds Oil Sand

The Equity Oil Company, operating in the Newhall field, has picked up a good oil sand at 1205 feet, and will make a production test in a few days, according to field reports. The well, known as the Henderson No. 1, is standing cemented. The showings were found in shale with streaks of oil sand.

McAdoo Gets Sand

W. G. McAdoo, Jr., son of the former Cabinet officer, has found an oil sand at 10,000 feet in his new well in the Newhall district, according to field reports. The well is in partly proven territory, being on the property of the Republic Production Company in the old Newhall field.

McAdoo has been engaged in the oil business in California more or less actively for 10 years. He organized the Tejon-Kern Oil Company, which drilled a dry hole in the Wheeler Ridge field, and also was interested in some of the early fields in the Signal Hill field.

Today's port receipts are 22,000 bales against 25,000 last week and 35,000 last year, while the exports for the week are 26,500, making the total export clearance from August 1 to date nearly 5,000,000 bales.

IN A RUGGED
YEAR, Jan. 14.—An unexpected break in selling turned the market to a buying force for the stock, the in-between grade of cows and bulls reflecting the strength. A three-day string of 135-day-old northern steers topped for the day at $1.20, while both of the other steers clearing from $1.00 to $1.10, the low price taking in plain Californians and northern.

Stately good cows or bulls were offered the best bids, a small lot of bulls at $1.10 and a few choice ones from $1.00 to $1.10.

including a small lot of Arizonans at $1.10. Other Arizonans, mostly medium kinds, sold down to $.95, with a lot of Texas steers bids at $.95.
Cattle, mostly medium kinds, sold down to down to $.85. Buils ruled steady to weak, with the general run of bullocks from $.85 to $.90, with bullocks up to $.95.

CALIFORNIA—Yesterday's small supply was cleared in public participation to publicly large amounts of new steers, but out due to the heavy volume of sales apparently from the same sources in these new securities.

MINNIE FLYNN

by
FRANCES MARION

THE CAST
Minnie Flynn, 18 years of age, petite, red-headed, pretty shop-girl product of New York's fashion district, is the girl who has become the victim of all the coquetry and glamour of youth. Fashion Department stores, society and stocky and "MA" FLYNN, Minnie's mother, the result of a hasty marriage, who loves her family and her FORTIE FLYNN, Minnie's sister; a bulk of a boyish-looking, dimpled, vivacious girl. PETE FLYNN, about me: just a billy and a JIMMY FLYNN, the other son; a male edition of HILLY McNALLY, Minnie's brother-boy friend; just what he sounds like.

FRONK SOUGHT IN SACRAMENTOCheck Suspect Believed to Have Retraced Trail*Auto Used in Flight North Left in Red Bluff*Bail on Two Indictments Set at $100,000

While two Los Angeles detectives were centering a search for J. K. Fronk, asserted $387,000 bank defrauder, in Sacramento yesterday, Superior Judge Hahn was signing the documents which set bail for Fronk's release, when he is captured at $100,000.

News dispatches from the State capital gave the first intimation that local police believe they have obtained a definite clew to the Hollywood "financiers" whereabouts.

The two detectives, who would not give their names, were found searching a number of Sacramento hotels. They said they expected to continue to Red Bluff where the notorious Fronk is said to have used in fleeing Los Angeles was left in a garage. The search centered there, it was declared, when local detectives learned that a money order for $100,000 had been issued by C. L. Campbell, who is declared to have accompanied Fronk north.

SAMPLE OF WRITING

In Sacramento, the investigators obtained a sample of Fronk's penmanship from an automobile registration certificate on file at the State Motor Vehicle Department. The abandoned car was left in a garage on the 7th and Montebello said a man drove in, apparently in a great hurry, said: "I'll leave this car here" and went out. He never returned.

Under the personal direction of Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Wright, a detail of deputy sheriffs is combing the Sacramento Valley for some trace of Fronk. According to the two men, who spoke in the hands of Wright, the much-wanted man doubled back from Portland, where he was seen several days after he fled from this city, and went into hiding somewhere in the northern valley. Chief Deputy Wright last night stated that two of his men have been north of Sacramento for several days but had so far been unable to unearth any trace of the fugitive.

Two grand juries indictments against the fugitive Fronk were returned yesterday, one accusing him of passing fictitious checks and the other charging grand larceny and embezzlement.

Officer R. Ruddy is made joint defendant with Fronk in the fictitious checks indictment, which he made and turned over to the bank teller. Ruddy's bail was set at $10,000, which is a reduction from the $10,000 on which he now is being held. In the other indictment, L. A. Landen, Hellman Bank branch manager, is joint defendant. This indictment names two sums aggregating $22,500. Landen's bail was set at $10,000.

The first indictment that against Fronk and Ruddy, described as serial bank robbers, was filed in the federal court at Sacramento, ranging between $2280.12 for the smallest, and $19,075.82 for the largest, most of them being around $10,000 in amount. They were drawn on various local banks. On this indictment Fronk's bail was set at $75,000.

The second indictment charges Landen and Fronk with grand larceny and embezzlement, four counts, two of embezzlement and device, based on two transactions,

I.W.W. RAID SUITS LOST

Actions Against City By Harbor Men Seeking Damages Thrown Out of Court

Ed Delaney, suing in behalf of himself and the I.W.W., lost his suit for $600 against the city for asserted damages to I.W.W. property in the harbor district during raids in 1924 when Judge Frederick C. Valentine yesterday threw the case out of court on the ground Delaney had failed to make the required demand on the city prior to filing his suit.

The court also consulted the suit of Andrew Kulis, owner of the premises where one of the raids was said to have occurred, for $641 damages against the city.

Delaney asserted I.W.W. pamphlets and furnaces of the headquarters were destroyed in the asserted riots, and he declared the city was responsible for having failed to furnish sufficient police protection to guard against the acts of the rioters.

Attorneys for the city moved for a nonsuit of both cases on the theory that neither of the plaintiffs had presented claims formally to the court, rejected by the court.

The cases were called for trial several weeks ago and were taken under submission by Judge Valentine at that time to give him the opportunity to look up points and anomalies on the city's motion for nonsuit.

HAYS NOTES PROGRESS IN SCREEN ART

Chief Here on Visit Says Year Has Produced Many New Writers and Directors

The greatest advance of motion pictures in 1925 has been the development of men and women able to tell stories on the screen, declared Vill Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, on his arrival here yesterday for his annual visit.

"So many capable directors and writers have come forward during the last year," said the film chief, "that every few weeks the public is shown a picture directed by a man whose name has never before been seen on the screen, or written by a scenarist who has never been heard of before. These people are the ones in which ability must be developed almost entirely."

As a result of the rapid development of the motion picture industry, Hays stated, at least once a week the industry is producing a story that compares favorably with the best in art, in the drama and in literature.

Mayor's Committee to Ask Pittsburgh Lawyer to Lead Drive Against Rate Boost

Charles K. Robinson, a well-known Pittsburgh attorney, will be asked by the executive committee of Mayor Clegg's telephone committee to conduct a local fight against increasing telephone rates, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Robinson, it was stated, received a telegram ordering a reduction of telephone rates in Pittsburgh amounting to $500,000 per year over a period of six years. The Pittsburgh phone company forced to grant the reduction was subsidiary of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Whether Robinson will accept the local invitation is not known.

The decision to obtain the services of Robinson was made following a reorganization of the telephone committee. The executive committee yesterday also adopted a budget calling for $75,000 to finance completely the campaign against increasing telephone rates. The plan for raising the fund contemplates assistance from both the city and county. Plans for carrying on the campaign were also prepared at yesterday's meeting.

A Tugboat, Sought Two Males, Brought Here
in Questioned Anent
Mrs. Wilson's Death and Wife Reported to Have Victim's Bag

A Tugboat, sought by California police for more than two months in connection with the death by strangling of Mrs. Nettie, wealthy housewife, was brought to Los Angeles yesterday night. It was booked at the station of the Bureau of Investigation and will remain here until the trial of the man charged with the death today in connection with the death of Mrs.

Another was arrested in San Diego yesterday by Detective
Sperry of the Los Angeles Division. Urquhart, 35, had little to say when he arrived here.

According to admission, he was arrested at San Bernardino, it was urged that he was the man who had been arrested in San Diego.

Urquhart was found strangled

in his apartment at 1245

on December

22. Examination showed that he was dead at the prenuptial

meeting the widow's municipal friends.

Urquhart was left for the prison to bring the principle into the woman's home.

It was learned that Mrs.

and Mr. Urquhart had been in the apartment-house,

but they were not connected in connection with the crime.

John F. Lindner was arrested in connection with the murder and will be released shortly.

WEARYING THOUGHT
Turkey could hardly be in more of a poorer about Mosul if the name of the place were Mosul Shoals. But it is hoped the that. The British lion is the modern Turkey

ANOTHER PRINCETON MAN
It seems that a former Princeton professor is now looking after the finances of Poland. The Princeton educators do not hesitate about mingling in world affairs, but it calls for something more than a college training to straighten out the money matters of some of these foreign peoples.

FLEAS IN THE SNOW
According to a nature writer, fleas are to be found in snow. Possibly they are not very terrifying, but there is at least no warrant for worrying over them in the Los Angeles sector. Just for ourselves we can hardly imagine anything more intangible than the footprints of a snow flea.

THE RUBBER MARKET
Some citizens are fussing as if they thought it a crime because the British are able to fix the price of rubber. What should we do now for tires if the British hadn't planted rubber when they did and when we didn't? John is hardly a felon because he happens to be in position to "bully" the rubber market. We can do better by going ahead and creating plantations of our own and so destroying the monopoly.

CUTTING THE RATES
The Democrats are inclined to wrangle over the range and volume of tax reduction to be achieved. Where the Republicans wish to take off the Democrats would put on, and vice versa. The White House occupant will permit a grim smile to steal over his features at this embroilment. He has promised himself and the people a substantial lessening of the tax burden and the minor details will not greatly concern him.
He cares not about the glory or credit as long as the taxpayer gets the relief.

PERILS OF CIVILIZATION

An eminent physician intimates that civilization is to blame for most of our grievous ailments. The big run of our cancer and pneumonia cases are primarily due to our habits or mode of living. The way we dress, the way we eat, the hours we keep and a few other items associated with what we call modern civilization all have their bearing upon our physical being. The original American, the native Indian who lived much in the open and dined and dressed simply, was a fine specimen of strength and prowess, until he fell for the white man's advantages.

LIGHTS OF BROADWAY
The new Mayor of New York is a native son and considered a wise bird, but he has the idea that he can clean up the big city without the use of trick or device.
He will not use plain-clothes officers in hunting vice or trapping gamblers and no woman will be used as decoys in any of the police operations. If there are not enough uniformed police to keep the town in order he will have more of them, but they will all work on regular lines. There will be no masking, muzzling or sleuthing. He is especially bitter against the use of women as traps. The idea of luring citizens into trap for the purpose of making arrests impresses him as being a crime of itself.
This policy must seem fresh to the old-timers in Gotham. Possibly the new Mayor doesn't want the city too clean.

THE DIVORCE MILL

There were less than 700 divorce cases in the legal mills at Reno last year. This is the smallest number known since Nevada put in a bid for the nation's divorce business. We have nearly that many in some single months in Los Angeles and heaven knows we are not seeking records in this line.
Some of the Reno lawyers are said to be packing away their shingles or hunting other fields for their talents.

PAY AS YOU GO!
"Why not pass some of the war-debt burden on to the next generation?" This question, carrying with it a seductive suggestion, is asked in various forms by the Democratic and mongrel opposition in Congress. Those who propose such a system argue that if the national debt were to be paid off more slowly taxes would be lower.

A good reply to this suggestion appears in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post: "We are not so poor that we need to pass on to the next generation a debt of this generation in order to run a decent government for this generation."

Pay as you go is a good Anglo-Saxon maxim. A business that is run continually on borrowed money generally goes under when confronted by a financial and industrial crisis. A sound business policy requires that debts shall be eliminated as rapidly as possible, that a close watch shall be kept on expansion wholly on borrowed money. This maxim applies with equal potency to government. France's present financial condition is in part the result of a policy that had been pursued for fifteen years before the World War. During that whole period the French government, already tainted with Socialism, did not collect enough annually in taxes to pay the annual expense of government. A system of borrowing came into vogue; and it was not difficult for the government to borrow because French national bonds were then considered a good investment by French taxpayers.

When the war came the government was already carrying a heavy bonded debt; and when the war was over the French taxpayers insisted that the government should continue its borrowing program, because it made taxes lighter. But the time has come when no lenders appear; and France must now meet the installments on the money borrowed before the war, during the war and during the years of reconstruction. The present generation must pay, in addition to its own debts, those incurred by a generation that has passed. The debts of the fathers are visited on the second and third generation.

At the present time our national government is discharging the national debt at the rate of about $800,000,000 yearly. The Democrats and mongrels of the opposition propose that these payments shall be cut in half, and aver that taxes would thus be lowered. But when one observes the readiness with which this same opposition votes for appropriations of doubtful public utility one discovers that the only result would be that the money which now redeems national bonds would go into the pork barrel.

As the Saturday Evening Post points out,
"Twenty billion dollars paid out means substantially $20,000,000,000 more productive capital. This is the prime reason for our rapid rate of payment of the national debt."

The argument that we should not pay off the debt any faster than our debtor nations are discharging their debt to us is wholly fallacious. Why should we imitate the errors of our debtors? Much wiser is it to profit by our mistakes.

Millions of fathers and mothers in this country are now producing and saving in order to provide a competence for their sons and daughters. What regard do we have for a father who contracts debts for an unborn son to pay? Yet that is the policy we would pursue if we permitted the opposition in Congress to defeat the present budget policy of the administration. It may sound plausible to say that we fought the World War for the sake of our poor-ty; but the fact is that we took part in that struggle to preserve what was then, and is now, our own. We refused to accept military dictation from another people.
That did not concern our sons and daughters as immediately as it concerned ourselves.

Pay as you go is the American plan. Let each generation limit its expenditures to its actual income. Leaving the debts of one generation as a legacy to the next is a policy that is not likely to cause our sons and grandsons to hold us in grateful memory.

PAUL PRY
We sometimes think we are insipid to death. We have inspectors for our milk.
We have inspectors for our meat. We have inspectors for our elevators. We have inspectors for our roads and for our plumb-ing.

A man may not teach without being turned inside out and the inside of his mind looked over. He may not doctor his fellow without having his medicine case opened and his mental processes observed.

The discouraging part of all this inspecting and overseeing is that frequently it is incompetent. If Paul Pry had been on his job at Pasadena before the parade on New Year's and had properly inspected the stands hundreds of limbs and backs would not have to be mended.

If just a few more nails had been driven a little deeper and more lateral braces had been placed a good many stitches would have been saved and miles of bandages would have been unrolled.

We enjoy boasting our freedom. We want the privilege of talking and doing as we please. We are obsessed with our liberties and resent anyone scrutinizing our opinions.

We regard the Declaration of Independence as our own personal property and have a notion that it supersedes and fulfills all law. And we hold as pernicious officialdom any interference with our so-called rights.

But every man is tied up with every other man. He has to live with reference to every other. He may not drive a nail, or even fail to drive a nail, without having the destiny of his neighbor hanging on it.

And the grand jury seems to think it its special duty to investigate any individual who will not be considerate of his fellows.

Einstein and Moses are equally right about it. Everything and everybody are relatives—whether constellations or brothers.

We are all geared together. Isolated independence is impossibility. It is more—it is crime.

NARROW NATIONS SCORED

Harvey Tells Optimist Club America's Dependence on Others Means World Court or War

Voiceing the hope that America will soon join the World Court and prizing all organizations which tend toward universal peace, Paul Harvey, formerly editor of the Interpreter and a representative of the International Council of Chambers of Commerce, addressing the Optimist Club at the Biltmore yesterday, declared the day will come when an international body of business men will be organized to further the economic welfare of the world.

"Resolutions cannot stop war somehow. Although our production long as the demons of fear, of oil, steel and industrial machinery are per cent of the world's wealth, power and responsibility in our hands, we are inclined in the production of many other necessary products. Had we had the forethought to plant rubber trees in the Philippines a few years ago we would not need to pay $700,000,000 annually for rubber imports," said Mr. Harvey.

"Capital, brains and industry must form a triumvirate to defeat Mars and must co-operate, under international law, to develop for the welfare of the world the resources of back-

"We could have the world on its knees by suddenly withholding or making prohibitive the purchase of our oil, steel and machinery, but we do not want to bring the world to its knees, we want civilization to go forward," said the speaker.

"If we are going to continue in the old nationally-selfish rut, we might as well stop talking peace and begin to think for another way."

Declarer that the people of the United States who, prior to the World War, had forged forward with little consideration of international duties and obligations, is now beginning to think in world terms, the speaker said that the question of whether or not we are to have a stable world, economically, politically and in other ways depends upon the attitude and action of America, "the fulcrum of the world's power."

"It is time for this nation to be more fully developed," said Mr. Harvey. "Consider the fact that there are fourteen essential commodities of which we consume 75 per cent, but of which we produce

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE TINKER

I was talking with the tinker who had come to mend some pans he proved to be a thinker full of world-splitting plans. He had the famous writer, clear from the McFee, and he'd been won over to Russia, crushed, trying out the schemes of Marx; left plottings from the works he knowledge sharks. He could never find the growing pages of historical harda, with the wisdom of sages he was loaded with the guard he solved with admiration he dictated. "This, sir, nation can also produce such men. Other nations have stored up knowledge, but you would find it there you must go to the college or the lawyer over wonder, but it's told by direct; here a tinker may read and ponder, gaining all the right. So I must admire this tinker; he's not a corker, he's a topsy-turvy, he's Cicero on wheels. I am always fond of drinking truth from another's sea; when this tinker does his thinking I will have a good and plenty for the time he spent in talk, running up the works of Henry Harrod Bell and Edward Bok. And he charged more for fixing those old pans the new ones cost, so I said, "The thing of mixing tell and knowledge is a frost." WALTER MASON.

To make a fine grain cake you must have a flour especially ground for the purpose. Cream Puff Self-Raising Cake and Biscuit Flour is not "merely flour," but a special flour containing the softest part of selected wheat—flour you cannot buy in any other form, and it sells for less than you would suppose — 30¢ for large package — enough to make several cakes—several bakenings of delicious biscuit—free from baking powder small which comes from using too much. You get better and never require better biscuit from Cream Puff—the Big Green Package sold by all grocers.

SEARCH FOR LEADERS OF BOY BANDITS

Police Report Arrests Near in Chain of Many Hold-ups and Robberies

With five juveniles held in the City Jail as perpetrators of numerous robberies in the city during the past several weeks, and including the robbery of at least two local banks, authorities yesterday continued their efforts to apprehend three members of the band still at large.

Assistant Captain of Detectives Kalmeyer of the Wilshire Police Station last night said he is confident the three men, who are said to be men of mature years and ex-convicts, have not left the city.

The fugitives, of which there are now five, have been identified as persons of the Jewish race in these last few days.

Police declare the juvenile criminals, who are being held in the Juvenile Ward, and the asserted leaders, are responsible for at least ten drug-store robberies, gas station hold-ups and several robberies of persons.

JURY MAY SEE PAROLE BOARD

Judges and Keyes Would be Invited to Meeting

New Program for Handling Prisoners Proposed

District Attorney Willing to Aid in Solution

Stone, former Glen Air district night watchman, was sentenced to death December 22, last, by Superior Judge Hahn, on two counts of first-degree murder, the death penalty being imposed on counts of killing the two girls.

The victims disappeared August 28, 1924, and it was not until Feb. 12, 1925, that their bodies were found in a field near Baldwin Hills, a short distance from their home. Evidence at the trial revealed Stone was the last person seen with them.

The defense attorney denied a motion for a new trial when he faced Judge Hahn for sentence, and yesterday's action is the initial step in an effort to obtain a reversal of the conviction.

Stone, through his attorney, Chandos Bush, set forth the following reasons why the appeal should be granted. That the defense was insufficient to justify the verdict; that the verdict was contrary to the law and evidence; that the verdict was other than a majority opinion; and that the District Attorney during the trial and asserted errors on the part of the trial judge.

The defense attorney also asserted that the trial judge was biased in favor of the prosecution.

Man Thought Kidnapped Now Believed Ill

That Vernon E. Evans, 23 years of age, Hollywood, real estate dealer, is alive but apparently suffering from a mental breakdown and is not the victim of an assault and kidnapping was revealed last night, when the missing man communicated with his mother-in-law.

Mrs. Charles A. Marsh, 1818 Maran Place, Hollywood, with whom the 4-year-old daughter Gloria are making their home.

Evans, whose whereabouts have been a mystery since his disappearance under peculiar circumstances, Tuesday morning at 3775 Cahuenga Boulevard, called Mrs. Marsh on the telephone last night, stated he was very ill and sorry for everything, talked incessantly and steadfastly refused to divulge his whereabouts, she reported.

Hollywood police late last night reported they had traced Evans to Lankershim, where he is residing with his mother and with him his two automobiles and a flock of blooded pigeons. They stated their investigations failed to reveal whether the boy had been assaulted. Capt. McNamee and Detectives Carmen and Hack said Evans was seen in Lankershim yesterday afternoon.

"No subpoenas will be issued, merely an invitation will be extended, if the plan is adopted," Mr. Taylor said.

David A. Keyes has been asked by Mr. Taylor to meet with him this morning to discuss this phase of the investigation.

"I cannot tell this time what my plan will be, because I do not know exactly what the grand jury has in mind," Mr. Keyes said last night when told by the newspaper man of the proposed plan.

He continued: "I am continuing that the duties and responsibilities of the parole board were clearly and specifically defined in the law that created the board. However, since there may be anything the grand jury may desire to do in an effort to make a thorough investigation of this problem before it,"

President Richardson called a temporary halt in the grand jury investigation of Gov. Richardson's charges yesterday. No witnesses were heard by the jury and none were introduced.

Alexander McKee Williams, chairman of the criminal complaints committee.

"We do not expect to do anything on this case until Tuesday, when the jury will reconvene," Mr. Taylor said last night.

Reader Burns to Death When Paper Ignites

Fred L. Conder, 62 years of age, 8700 Long Beach Boulevard, sustained fatal burns last night when the newspaper he was reading fell against a gas heater. In his effort to extinguish the flames, the aged man's bath robe became ignited. He was rushed to the Suburban Hospital at South Gate where he succumbed shortly after being admitted.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Sam L. Easterling, 218 East Clarendon avenue, Huntington Park.

Dr. Atkinson Will Lecture While Visiting Here

Public sentiment favoring universal peace and the establishment of a World Court is growing all over the world today, declared Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, general secretary of the World Alliance for International Friendship, who arrived at the Almond Inn yesterday.

Mr. Atkinson, who is a native Californian, is here primarily to visit relatives, but during his stay he will deliver a number of lectures on the peace movement and the World Court. He will be the principal speaker at the World Court mass meeting at Polytechnic

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the infected membranes and inhibits the infection.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote, carried to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after convalescence. It is recommended if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga.—[Advertisement]

SEES NEW ERA

"A new spirit with reference to international relations has developed throughout the world since 1914," said Dr. Atkinson. "It was established a new method for solving international disputes. It showed what may be accomplished through conferences of representatives of different nations, set precedents that will be followed in the future for the settlement of international questions."

To show how interest in world peace has developed, Dr. Atkinson stated that four great international meetings have taken place for the discussion of the subject, each one attended by representatives of a greater number of nations than the preceding one.

"The first took place at The Hague in 1919," he said. "Only fourteen nations participated on that occasion. At the next meeting, which occurred at St. Bernhard, Switzerland, in 1921, there were representatives from nineteen nations. At Copenhagen in 1923 twenty-four nations took part, and Stockholm last year that number had grown to twenty-nine."

"There are five major groups actively engaged in the promotion of world peace. The principal association is the World Alliance for International Friendship, the International Parliamentary Union, the Inter-Parliamentary Union, the International Federation of the World Court, and the World Court itself. Dr. Wilson said: 'This particular trouble began about five weeks ago.'

To be effective the World Court must have the backing of all major nations and most of the smaller ones as well. Dr. Atkinson said.

Use Dynamite in Razing Walls of Blaze-Swept Building

With Water Still Playing Upon the Smouldering Ruins, six fire companies yesterday engaged in the work of pulling down the brick walls of the two-story building of the Los Angeles Planing Company, which was destroyed Wednesday night. The work, carried out under the direction of Battalion Chief Augustine, was undertaken when it became apparent that the standing walls constituted a menace. Photo at left shows firemen with hose working from inside of building. Middle, a general view of the ruins. Right, section of wall toppling after dynamite had been used. (Times photos.)

A Superfluity of "Hot Air" in the House of Representatives has necessitated the installation of a giant ventilating fan. C. H. Torbert, assistant chief of heating and ventilating at the Capitol, is pictured with the big fan. (P. & A. photo.)

The Objective of Thousands of Adventurous Americans who crossed the plains seventy-five years ago is pictured above. It is the topmost point of Pike's Peak, a short distance from Denver. The photo shows three members of the Adamant Club of Colorado Springs, looking the world over on New Year's Day. The peak is a favorite climb for hikers all over the State of Colorado. Dave Windsor's Mother-in-Law may be Prince Borg (above) of Sweden, according to Los Angeles, which links the Prince of Wales's name with the Princess Astrid of Sweden. The rumour has yet been confirmed. (Kadel & Herbert photo)

These daily history strips make a unique pictorial history of America. Hundreds are clipping them daily and pasting them in scrapbooks.

MASONS IN REBUTTAL TO HUGHES

Washington, as Master of Lodge, Termed Necessarily Man of Prayer

Basing his statements on the fact that George Washington, first President of the United States, was Worshipful Master of a Masonic lodge, Dr. Glen MacWilliams last night in an address before a banquet of the Union Pacific Masonic Club at the Roslyn Hotel, assailed the assertions credited to Rupert Hughes in a recent speech centered on the personal life of Washington.

Dr. MacWilliams' address was the principal feature of the evening's program, attended by several hundred Masons and their wives.

Hughes' speech was delivered before a recent meeting of the District of Columbia Society of the Sons of the Revolution.

Hughes is quoted as having described Washington as "a chameleon cuss, that he never says what he means and consistently avoided participation in communion that he had a fondness for strong drink and was profane and irreligious."

"It may be news to Rupert Hughes that a Master of Free Masonry, over which he presided as Worshipful Master until his death," said Dr. MacWilliams. "Rupert Hughes' words of the Masonic phases of George Washington's life do not concern him, but we would inform Mr. Hughes that a man to be Worshipful Master of a Masonic lodge must merit it by his moral character."

"He must also be a man of prayer, for to pray is part of the duties of a Worshipful Master, who must also participate in communion with the Supreme Ruler of the Universe in his brief life."

MacWilliams cited an authority, a biography of Washington by Sydney Hayden, Past Master of Rural Amity Lodge of Masons in Pennsylvania.

Theft Suspect Arrested as He Flees Residence

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Mitchell engaged on the prerogatives of the police department last night by capturing an asserted burglar.

Mitchell was about to enter his home at 1127 West Twentieth street when he saw a man run out of the door. Mitchell ran after him and caught him after a chase of several blocks.

The prisoner was turned over to Detective Lieutenants Atchley and Farnum of the University division, and the name of James Cohn, 36 years of age, was booked on suspicion of burglary.

Police said Mitchell identified several rings and a watch found on the suspect as having been taken from his home.

Radio Trades Group Indorses Fight on Fees

Enthusiastic support of the campaign to obtain desired legislation at Washington in the matter of copyright fees demanded by the American Society of Authors, composers, and Publishers was given last night by members of the Radio Trades Association of Southern California at a dinner in the Alexandria.

In an effort to obtain funds to aid the work planned at Washington a radio feast is to be held here the 26th inst. The various broadcasting stations are arranging the program to be given at El Paseo Auditorium over every phase of the industry will be present. Guy Earl told the Trades Association, speaking on "Radio's Broadcast Frolic."

Other speakers include J. A. Hartley, "Association of Broadcasters;" A. E. Kale on "The Copyright Situation," and W. J. Dunlap on "The Payment." Alfred Meyer on "The Talent;" H. J. Banta on "Business Conditions." W. D. Scott was chairman.

The association will meet on February 10, next, to discuss "A Silent Night for Southern California."

POLICE SHAKE-UP HINTED

Assistant Detective Chief Longuevon Transferred to Head Liquor Detail of Vice Squad

Regarded by police authorities as a shake-up and explained by First Deputy Chief of Police Hilf as "for the good of the service," Assistant Captain of Detectives Longuevon yesterday was transferred to the police vice squad to take charge of the liquor detail under Acting Inspector Davis. The transfer is effective the 16th inst.

Surprise was expressed by Chief of Detectives Finlayson, who said the transfer was unexpected, by him and that as Longuevon has proven himself a valuable man on the pawn-shop detail, his loss will be felt.

Longuevon stated the transfer is as much a surprise to him as to his superiors. He has requested a transfer. Longuevon in 1916-17-18 was with the vice squad and later worked on general assignments under Finlayson until receiving a civil-service rating as assistant captain of detectives seven months ago.

Longuevon's transfer was explained by Acting-Inspector Davis, under whom the liquor detail of twenty men functions, as probably due to the fact that Longuevon has had considerable experience in vice-squad work and is probably best fitted to take charge of the liquor detail.

Davis declared that of late there have been many complaints on the liquor situation in Los Angeles, that will be checked by changing the city in alarming proportions. Longuevon's transfer, Davis said, will give him an experienced vice-squad operative to direct ac-

WHITE POINT SEWER PLAN CONDEMNED

Vanderlip Lauds Palos Verdes and Sides With Dissenting Councilmen

Frank A. Vanderlip declared that the Palos Verdes coast will become the greatest residential section in America and that it is his life's ambition to leave it as his masterpiece, studied, intelligent effort," yesterday when he was addressing 100 members of the City Council Board of Supervisors of the Public Works Dept. Water Commission and other city and County officials. The executives were gathered at a luncheon in Palos Verdes Park, at White Point to discuss and inspect the site of County Sanitation Engineer A. K. Warren's plan to locate the main outfall at that famous scenic spot.

Mr. Vanderlip was present but did not join in the discussion or explain his plans. Councilman Collier, toastmaster, voiced his disapproval of the plan, and did number of things to indicate his standing President Workman of the Council; Councilman Randall, Assistant City Engineer Whitehead, Councilman Hall and Councilman Sparks. Mr. Vanderlip was particularly forcible in expressing his belief in the future of the Southwest.

One of the so-called "wild" statements about the industrial future of Los Angeles Harbor and adjacent areas was made at the luncheon. Hughes is quoted as having described Washington as "a chameleon cuss, that he never says what he means and consistently avoided participation in communion that he had a fondness for strong drink and was profane and irreligious."

"It may be news to Rupert Hughes that a Master of Free Masonry, over which he presided as Worshipful Master until his death," said Dr. MacWilliams. "Rupert Hughes' words of the Masonic phases of George Washington's life do not concern him, but we would inform Mr. Hughes that a man to be Worshipful Master of a Masonic lodge must merit it by his moral character."

The United American Line's withdrawal came at approximately 12:30 p.m. on the 12th inst., according to J. F. Tretry, freight traffic manager for the Los Angeles Steamship Company, representing the United American Lines at Los Angeles.

The United American will not slash rates, however, he declared, and would maintain tariffs as they are now as far as humanly possible. This assurance was received by those who were there within the conference as misgivings were felt that defections from the rate structure, heretofore maintained largely by the conference, might follow.
